

CUASA SIGNING INSTRUCTIONS

What is this document and why is it important?

This deed is a formal legal document where a person makes a commitment that can be relied upon. In this case, it's a personal affirmation made by you in favour of the listed entities, as relevant to your assignment, showing your agreement to respect and protect the organization's information and resources.

Step 1: Prepare for signing

- Please print and read the entire document – not just the signature page.
- Make sure you have a suitable person available who can witness your signature.
- Your witness should:
 - be an adult who is not related to you;
 - not be someone who has oversight responsibilities in your assignment, and;
 - not be serving in a formal role (as a director or officer) for any of the listed entities.

Step 2: Signing the deed

- Print your full name, then sign and date the document using a pen, in the space provided on page 4.
- You must sign the document in person, in front of your witness (please do not sign electronically).

Step 3: What the witness needs to do

After you sign:

- The witness should immediately sign the same physical copy of the document, using a pen.
- They should clearly print:
 - their full name;
 - the city, town or locality where they live, and;
 - their occupation or a brief description of their role (for example, "volunteer").

Step 4: Returning the signed document

Once signed and witnessed, please:

1. Scan or take clear photos of the entire document – not just the signature page.
2. Make sure all pages are clearly legible.
3. Email the complete copy to: InboxBTHLOffice.au@bethel.jw.org or in reply to this email.
4. Retain a copy for your records.
