Opening Comments (~1 min)

Brothers and sisters, this week's Bible reading in Jeremiah 22 and 23 helps us think about shepherding. Jehovah strongly corrected shepherds who neglected his people, but he also promised that his people would be cared for by good shepherds.

That is a comforting thought. Jehovah sees when people are hurt by bad leadership, and he also provides loving care through his organization. Tonight we will see how good shepherds protect unity, strengthen faith, and help Jehovah's people feel safe. So as we listen, maybe we can ask ourselves: How can I show appreciation for Jehovah's shepherding, and how can I help others feel cared for?

Student Commendation Scratch Pad

Use this section during the student assignments. The first line reminds you of the lesson point; the blank lines are for what you personally observed and can commend.

3. Pagbabasa ng Bibliya - Jeremias 23:25-36

Student: Mark Jocell Enriquez

Lesson: th Aralin 11 - Enthusiasm

Focus: Speak with zeal. Let the meaning and importance of the verses come through naturally.

Look for: expressive reading, appropriate energy, clear feeling in warning passages, natural gestures or facial expression, not overdone.

Possible commendation:

“Thank you. I appreciated the enthusiasm in your reading. You helped us feel the seriousness of Jehovah’s warning, without making the reading sound forced or exaggerated.”

My notes / commendation:

4. Pagpapasimula ng Pakikipag-usap - Bahay-Bahay

Students: Princess Tobias / Janet Enriquez

Lesson: lmd Aralin 3, Point 4 - Kindness

Focus: Speak kindly and respectfully. Choose words and tone carefully, and avoid saying things that could offend.

Assignment detail: Show and discuss, but do not play, a video from the Teaching Toolbox.

Look for: kind tone, respectful wording, interest in the householder, smooth mention of the video, no pressure.

Possible commendation:

“That was kind and respectful. You introduced the video in a way that showed concern for the householder, and your tone made the conversation feel relaxed.”

My notes / commendation:

5. Pakikipag-usap Muli - Bahay-Bahay

Students: Zealandrea Elefanio / Cariness Tobias

Lesson: 1md Aralin 9, Point 5 - Empathy

Focus: Share information that addresses the person's needs. Help the person see that the Bible can answer his questions and help in practical ways.

Assignment detail: Offer a magazine on the topic of the last conversation.

Look for: remembering the last topic, listening attitude, magazine offered naturally, clear connection to the householder's concern.

Possible commendation:

"I liked how you connected the magazine to the previous conversation. That showed empathy because it was not just an offer; it was something chosen for the person's need."

My notes / commendation:

6. Pahayag - Si Jesus ay Anak ng Diyos

Student: Edmundo Tobias

Lesson: th Aralin 15 - Expressed With Conviction

Focus: Show that you firmly believe in the truth and importance of what you are saying.

Assignment detail: 1md Appendix A, Point 19 - Jesus is God's Son.

Look for: clear simple wording, confident tone, good eye contact, scriptures used logically, conviction without sounding pushy.

Possible commendation:

"You spoke with conviction. The point that Jesus is God's Son came across clearly, and your tone showed that this truth is important to you personally."

My notes / commendation:

Tonight we saw Jehovah as a caring Shepherd. He does not ignore neglect or false teaching, and he does not leave his people without help. He gives direction, good examples, and loving shepherds who work hard to keep the congregation united.

The lesson is not only for appointed brothers. All of us can help make the congregation feel safe and cared for. We can speak kindly in the ministry, show empathy when following up, and strengthen others by our words and example. This week, let us keep thanking Jehovah for the way he shepherds us and look for practical ways to care for one another.
